Our focus is to minimise the risks you face in your daily life; allowing you to live your life with confidence

Exceptional protection for your most important assets

Safeguarding you and your family's wellbeing is likely to be your top priority. At AIG, we share that commitment and believe you should be free to enjoy your lifestyle safe in the knowledge you're protected.

Global Threats, Local Risks

No matter where you live in the world you will be exposed to some degree of people risk. These risks are not restricted to when you travel; they can materialise at any time during your daily life and significantly impact your lifestyle and loved ones.

You're Lifestyle: An Attractive Target

Personal wealth makes an appealing target for criminals. However, there are a number of factors that may draw attention from individuals wishing to extort you and your family; these include social status, occupation and a high profile lifestyle. Good prevention information and guidance can help minimise many security risks, making you less vulnerable, more resilient and more secure in living your life.

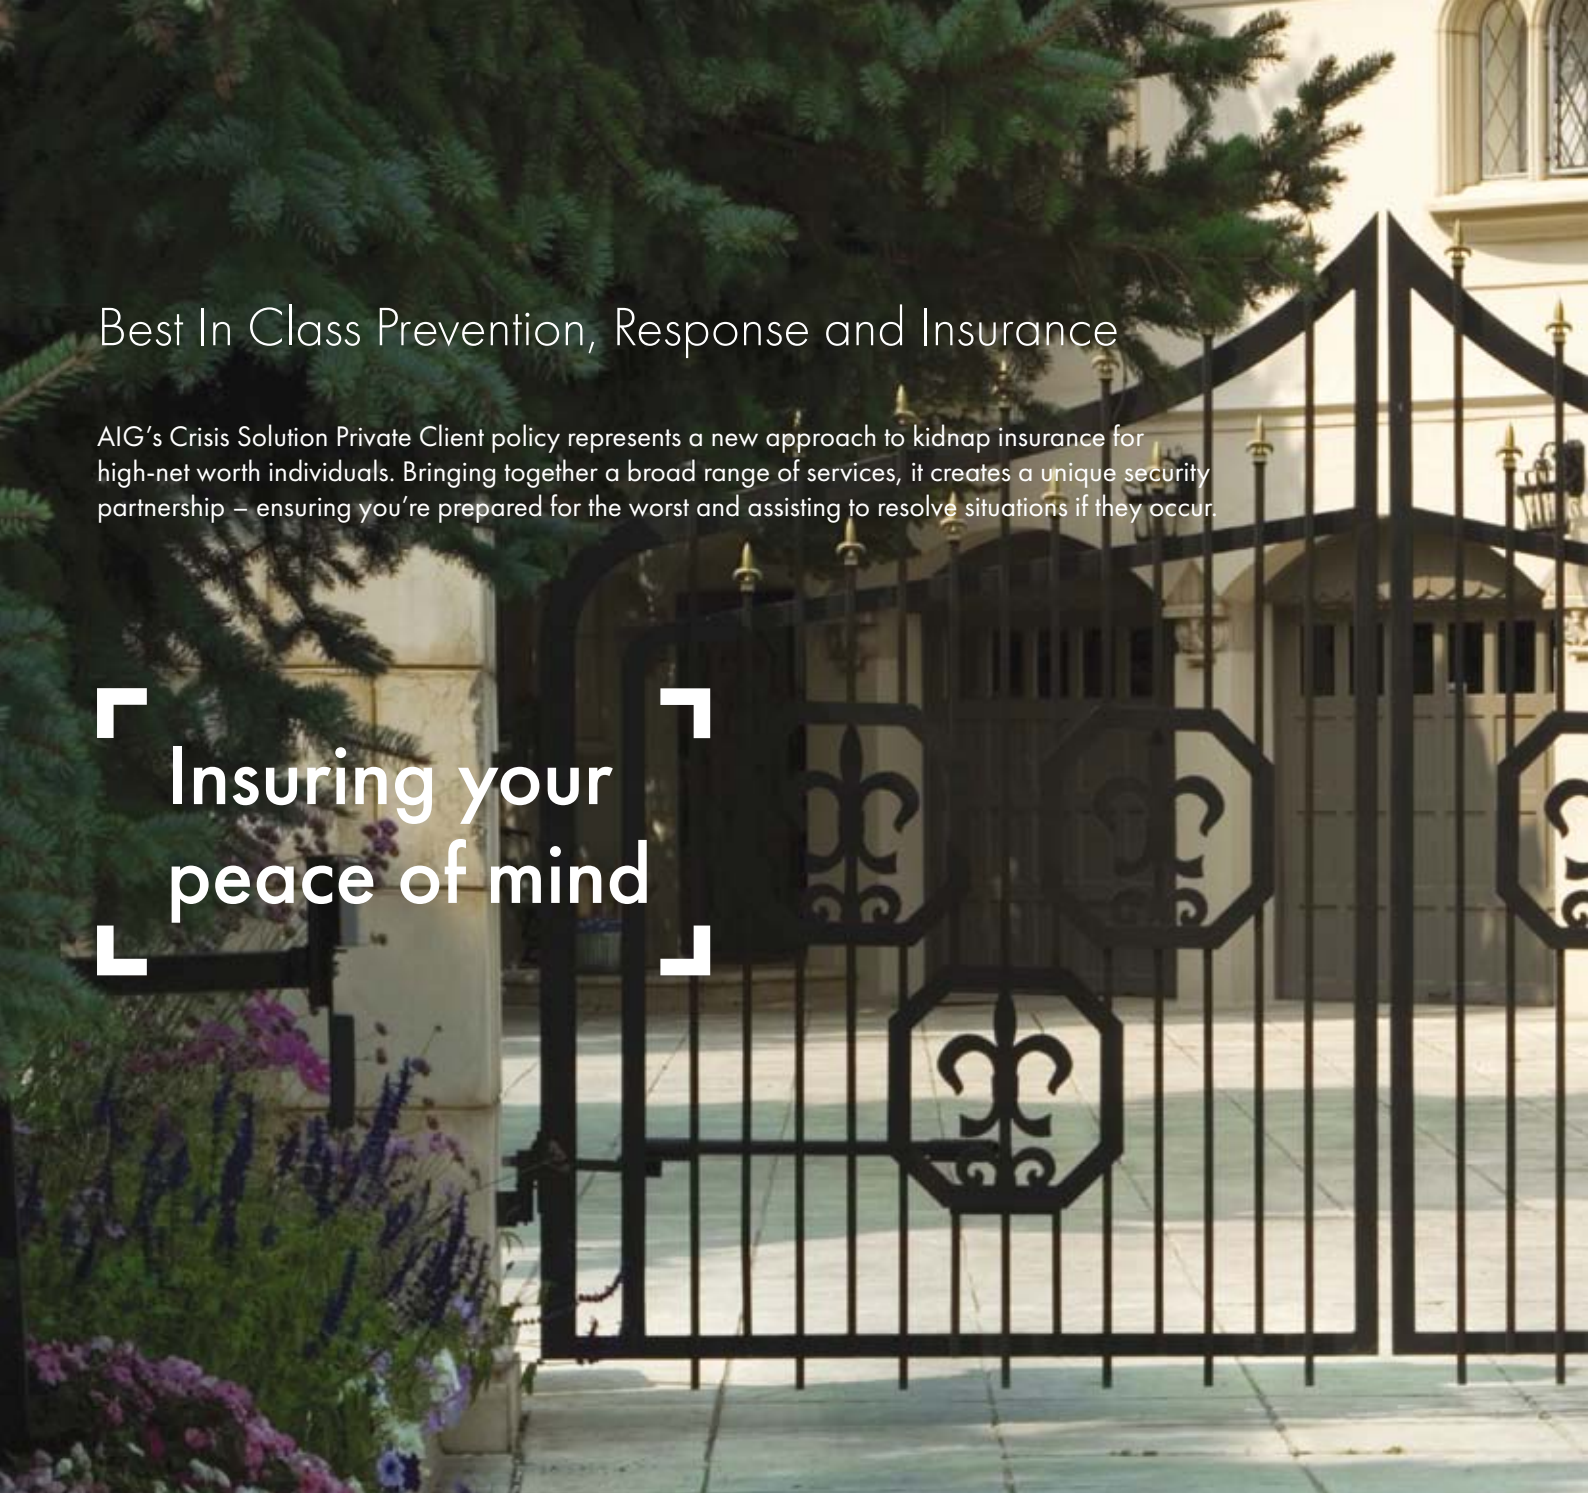

Travel Smart, Travel Safe

Whether for business or pleasure, you and your family are likely to travel internationally on a regular basis. When you do, simple security planning can help to ensure a trouble free trip. With AIG's Crisis Solution Private Client insurance you'll have access to a ten point travel plan; allowing you to enjoy your trips abroad having prepared for the risks you may face.

Managing Risk, Preventing Harm

Crisis Solution Private Client cover goes beyond traditional insurance protection and provides a holistic solution that identifies vulnerabilities and provides information to reduce or eliminate risks. The cover is ultimately intended to manage an extreme crisis event such as a kidnap, but making the policy work for you in your daily life is also important through insight and support.

Best In Class Prevention, Response and Insurance

AIG's Crisis Solution Private Client policy represents a new approach to kidnap insurance for high-net worth individuals. Bringing together a broad range of services, it creates a unique security partnership – ensuring you're prepared for the worst and assisting to resolve situations if they occur.

Insuring your peace of mind

Prevention

When it comes to protecting your family, keeping them safe through a practical and robust prevention strategy is crucial. With AIG's Crisis Solution, you will have access to a support team that provides information which helps you to consider your security situation and supports you in finding solutions to minimise vulnerabilities.

Our team are available to meet face to face or over the phone to help you consider your specific requirements and concerns. You will also be supported by a library of prevention information guides and resources.

Response

Should you ever need them, you'll have access to some of the most experienced crisis consultants in the world. Their advice and expertise will help to resolve incidents safely and support you through what is stressful and sensitive time.

Our preferred third party crisis response consultancy - NYA International - has over 25 years' experience advising on a broad range of incidents across the globe and have the largest kidnap and extortion response consultant team in the industry.

Insurance

AIG is a world leading insurance organisation with more than 90 million customers around the globe. Through a worldwide network spanning over 100 countries, we're never far away from you, the people we insure.

With over 45 years' experience within crisis solutions, our dedicated global underwriting team have the deep industry knowledge required to recognise the threats you face in your daily life. We constantly strive to provide the broadest market cover available, helping to safeguard you and your family against a range of events, including disappearance, extortion and detention.
